

2014 Camaro SS

Randy C.

I was a slow learner in school and had to repeat the 4th and 7th grades. That really put me behind in school, but I graduated. Going through school was hard for me. I didn't know I had an illness but started getting depressed, having mood swings and having to go to hospitals. I was diagnosed with schizophrenia, meaning you feel up sometimes and sometimes you feel down. I used to be lonely and lost good jobs, but I have overcome my obstacles. I have an apartment, attend day treatment, and have a part time job as a janitor. I am more independent.

I have always been an artist since a little kid, but when I got older my skills got better. I am self-taught. I like cars and so I like to draw them. When I do, I try to change what I see in a car and make it my own look. Aside from drawing, I also write songs and play the keyboard and guitar. These are my talents, too.
